Never has New York seen a greater demonstration in any theatre, and this after a record of SEVEN MONTHS on Broadway.

The Hippodrome was crowded last night at a theatrical and general performance for the benefit of the Permanent Canteens of the Mayor's Committee of Women on National Defense. About $15,000 was raised from the sale of seats and programmes, and programme advertising. The money is to be used in making the organization's outdoor canteens for soldiers and sailors permanent and weather-proof.

Lisa Maxwell was director of the performance and Frank Craven master of ceremonies. The principal entertainer was E. H. Sothern, who gave two recitations. Some of the others were George M. Cohen, Marjorie Rambeau, King Arv. Berlin, Al Jolson, Julie Arthur, Taylor Holmes, Marguerite Naroma, Sacha Jacobson and Anna Case.
